

FLIMSY DRESS OF GIRLS SPELLS PERIL TO RACE

DR. CLARA SEIPPEL, EMINENT
WOMEN'S SPECIALIST, CON-
DEMNS MODERN ATTIRE

NOT PROPERLY DEVELOPED BE-CAUSE OF EXPOSURE OF SHORT
SKIRTS AND ROLLED HOSE

By CARL V. LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Flimsy garb of girls spells peril to the race, Doctor Clara Seippel, eminent women's specialist said today.

"The sturdy type of American womanhood is becoming extinct, and a frail scrawny woman is in process of evolution," the physician declared.

Rolled hose and short skirts are the present expression of extreme dress which started some years ago. "There is no doubt," said Doctor Seippel, who speaks to thousands of girls and women each year, "but that the girl of today is not as well developed as the one of twenty years ago. Now we have the girl of straight lines, not the well proportioned girls of yesterday."

"The girl of today, dressed in thin flimsy dress, short skirts and satin pumps has no protection against the cold. She may as well wear nothing from her knee down. This takes all the bodily heat, so necessary to proper development. A few years ago the girl was muffled from ear to foot as men are now."

"Then, too, the modern girl has an insatiable desire for candy. This is because the heat of the body is spent rapidly, due to scant dress."

Doctor Seippel stated that many of the ills of womanhood are caused by constant exposures over a period of years. This condition is caused by the present day girl's tendency to stay out late at night, thereby missing her rest, which is so necessary to proper development.

"Extremity in dress has caused a lowering in the birthrate," she declared. Many young women have been kept from motherhood because they did not dress adequately during their girlhood, Doctor Seippel declared.

The doctor, who has been active for years in girls' welfare, emphasized she reached her conclusion after twelve years' experience in administering for girls and young women.

She said she gave the exclusive interview to the United Press so that her message would reach many who would not otherwise see it.

I am not an alarmist, she told them, I am deeply concerned, though, over present conditions. However, I believe nature will provide a remedy for the condition in some manner.

ATTEMPT TO AFFECT RECONCILIATION OF FARM ORGANIZATION

IS BEING MADE—BOTH EQUITY
EXCHANGE AND GRAIN GROW-
ERS TAKING ACTION

(By United Press.)

The Equity Cooperative Exchange, late today will appoint a committee of five to confer with a like committee of the North Dakota Grain Growers in an effort to reach an understanding.

The spirit of conciliation developed after a heated attack had been made in the Equity stockholders meeting on the U. S. Grain Growers, incorporated, who recently dismissed J. M. Anderson as a high official in their organization. Anderson, who is president of the Equity said he resigned three weeks before the Grain Growers acted.

U. L. Burdick, head of the Grain Growers in North Dakota will appoint his conciliation committee on Friday.

J. C. Kelly, South Dakota Equity director, blames the troubles of the farmers on the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. He charged Burdick was trying to lead the farmers into it. "In defating the farmer, they knocked us out so hard that the blow passed on and hit the other fellow."

"With fifty million farmers out of the buying game, we have put the other fifty million fellows out of the selling game," he said.

PROSECUTION WILL TRY TO SEND FATTY ARBUCKLE TO PRISON

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—"We will do our best to send Arbuckle to prison for causing the death of Virginia Rappe."

That was the version today by Assistant District Attorney Milton P. U'Ren, spokesman for the prosecution of Roscoe Arbuckle, film comedian. "This will be a fight to the finish," he continued, "if we fail, it will not be because we did not try with every power at our command. We have had to buck the millions of movie land people in this case. We will have to fight them again, but we are going right ahead."

The state is confident of securing conviction. "Nothing will stay our hand."

U'Ren's statement was made in an interview which was followed by a twenty-four hours of Arbuckle's first public interview, and seemed to sweep aside the atmosphere of amity and good fellowship between the opposing sides in the case, which is noticed during the days of the first trial, and the decks were cleared for battle.

SOLDIER TESTIFIES HE SAW SARGEANTS BEAT MEN TO DEATH

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 18.—Charges that he saw sargeants beat soldiers in prison to death at Camp Merritt, N. J., were made before the senate investigating committee today by George B. Walters of Dunkirk, N. Y. Walters, a former soldier, named Sargeants Smith and Stanley as "the men who did the killing."

Beat Soldiers Every Day

"They beat up soldiers every day," Walters charged. "Their favorite method was the pick axe handles." Wallace said he saw Smith and Stanley "beat men after man over the head until they fell unconscious on the ground."

A camp hospital nurse said Walters, told him two of the beaten men died. The witness said the beatings occurred in May and June 1918.

Harry Walmer of New York told the committee that Smith beat him, robbed him and tried to starve him.

"But the worse thing was when Smith took my mother's picture," Walmer said. "He forced me to give him the picture, then he tore it up, and threw it in my face."

MILLION DOLLAR STRING OF PEARLS IN LITIGATION

ORIGINALLY OWNED BY EMPRESS
KATHARINE OF RUSSIA—
HAVE BLOODY HISTORY

NOW OWNED BY MRS. DODGE WIFE OF AUTO-MILLIONAIRE, OF DETROIT, MICH.

New York, Jan. 18.—A strange tale of romance, plottings, assassins and revolutions lie behind the litigation over the string of pearls worth one million dollars in the New York court today.

Mrs. Horace Dodge, widow of the late, wealthy Detroit automobile manufacturer, is said to be the present owner of the gems which were originally in the possession of Empress Katharine II of Russia.

The jewels have a bloody history. Their royal owners were involved in intrigue and tragedy from generation to generation. Finally came the revolution, and the massacre of the Czar's family. The pearls then were put on the market. Cora E. Dodge purchased them, it is reported, from the Paris house of Binquet Brothers, and the American house of Cartier. Shortly afterward he died.

He is now suing on alleged failure to hand over a fair share of the purchase price, one million, five hundred dollars, after the sale. The defense is that the jewels did not bring $1,500,000.

The pearls are said to have been worn by Mrs. Dodge when she was in New York recently. Persons admired the beautiful necklace, which is one of the most magnificent ever seen here.

Mrs. A. C. Hanson, 911 Kingwood St., Brainerd, says: "I had such a backache due to a disordered condition of my kidneys I was almost frantic. There was hardly a thing about the house I could do, my back was so sore and stiff. Stopping so irritated my back and kidneys I just had to give up. I had a constant, dull ache across the small of my back that just laid me out. I got such dizzy spells I didn't know what I was doing nor where I was going. I certainly was feeling miserable until I was led to use Doan's Kidney Pills. It only took a short time for Doan's to rid me of the misery and since then, my health has been just fine."

The Denarius.

The word penny occurs a number of times in our English version of the New Testament, especially in the four Gospels; for instance, Matthew 20:2, "And when he had agreed with the labourers for a penny a day, he sent them into his vineyard." The coin to which the name penny is given, was the denarius, a Roman silver coin in circulation in the time of Our Lord and the Apostles. It was the principal silver coin then in use throughout the Roman Empire. From the parable of the laborers in the vineyard it would seem that a denarius was then the ordinary pay for a day's labor.

Alexander and the Knot.

Gordius, a peasant, being chosen king of Phrygia, dedicated his wagon to Jupiter and fastened the yoke to a beam with a knot that no one could untie. Alexander the Great was told that "whoever undid the knot would reign over the whole East." "Well then," said the conqueror, "it is thus I perform the task." And so saying he cut the knot in twain with his sword. This was in 330 B. C. A Gordian knot means in common use a great difficulty.

There's a Reason.

"Ralph Waldo, go this instant and cut a switch from that tree, for you have been naughty and I must punish you." "Mother, you forget I am an advocate of forest conservation, and as a matter of principle I cannot comply with your request."—Florida Times-Union.

BRAINERD ARTIST HIGHLY HONORED

Miss Mary McColl Wins Distinction
in St. Louis Artist Colony Picture Exhibition

IS AWARDED BOFINGER PRIZE

Had Best Figure Work, Portrait of Young Girl Posed in Breakfast
Room of Miss McColl

A resident of Brainerd some years and a frequent visitor here later, Brainerd can lay claim to Miss Mary McColl, sister of John A. McColl and aunt of Miss Islay McColl, who has gained wide distinction as an artist.

A group of St. Louis artists have founded near the picturesque village of Kimmiswick the nucleus of a summer art colony, possessing the requirements of scenery and location to develop into as famous a rendezvous for artists as Lyme, Conn., or Provincetown, R. I., says the St. Louis Star.

The art colonists are four—Miss Augusta Finkelnberg, art teacher in Cleveland high school; Miss Mary McColl, art teacher in Yeatman high; Mrs. Emily Bancroft Phelps, scenery director for the Junior players, and Mr. Frank A. Nuderscher, with a studio in the DeMenil building. Miss Finkelnberg is a pioneer in the movement. She discovered the possibilities of Kimmiswick and surroundings as an art center while looking for a location for a summer home eleven years ago. The others in the group were her guests from time to time and became equally infatuated with the spot, with the result that each now possesses a charming bungalow residence.

They are all members of the St. Louis Artists Guild and Art League, and have submitted canvasses from time to time at exhibitions with some spot near Kimmiswick as the subject. Two of the group, Mr. Nuderscher and Miss McColl, are prize winners in the recent exhibition of works of St. Louis artists at the Artists' Guild. Miss McColl was awarded the Betty Brown Bofinger prize for the best figure work—a portrait of a young girl posed in Miss McColl's breakfast room at Kimmiswick. Mr. Nuderscher was given the prize for the best landscape.

Miss McColl specializes in figure work. In an interview Miss Finkelnberg stated: "Where my bungalow now stands was a plowed field. I purchased several acres and ran the gamut of native curiosity until this house was built. I had my artist friends down and all were delighted with the possibilities and quiet for painting it afforded. Miss McColl came down seven years ago and built a charming bungalow."

Miss Finkelnberg's bungalow is built of native stone and wood painted brown and set in the midst of a tangle of trees and bushes, just the sort of place one would picture as an artist's retreat. Further up the winding country road stands Miss McColl's Italian villa of rock, shingles and timbers. It faces a charming outlook and is located on a natural rocky terrace that goes well with the architecture.

At the recent ninth open competition of the St. Louis Artists' Guild, honorable mention was given by the jury to Miss Mary McColl for her painting, "Reveries." The jurors were John F. Carlson, New York, painter, and Everett L. Warner and Chester Beach, New York, sculptor and painter.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Daily Dispatch,

Brainerd, Minn.

I desire hereby to thank you for your many courtesies extended our church during the past year. The church people of Brainerd ought to be thankful for having a "daily" of the kind you are publishing.

May I ask you to publish the following in your paper. I have, and we have, as minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ, opportunities to serve men if we but have the spirit of the Christ. He who "came to serve".

John Halberg, a farmer living near Pequot, in rather poor circumstances had the misfortune of losing his wife. He is now left alone with six children the youngest being but 9 months old. The neighbors are helping him in taking care of the children, but the father desires to keep them at home.

He begged me, with tears in his eyes, to get him an elderly lady, a Christian woman, if possible to come and take care of his children and I could not but consider I would do all in my power.

I know I could have put an ad in your paper, but then I desired to write you this letter and you may publish it in part or in full if you so desire.

I know your paper is read quite extensively in this city and community, therefore if there should be any one that desires to give aid under these circumstances, if they would kindly communicate in person to myself or write the Dispatch I shall be very thankful.

I will pay the fare to Pequot myself.

Your's in the service of God,

O. S. WINTHER

GUILFORD G. HARTLEY DIED IN DULUTH

Duluth Industrial Leader Came to Brainerd when 18 Years of Age,
A Leader Among Men

SERVED IN LEGISLATURE IN 1883

During Stay in Brainerd Branched Out
Many Lines of Business, Contracting and Merchandising

Guilford G. Hartley, age 68, died at his home at 1305 East Superior street at 11:52 o'clock Tuesday night. He was taken ill suddenly while attending a concert at the First Methodist church Monday night. Physicians immediately pronounced his condition as serious, and relatives were summoned. He has been in ill health during the last two and one-half years—practically ever since an attack of influenza.

In attendance during his last hours were his widow, Mrs. Caroline Woodward Hartley; the daughters, Mrs. Walter B. Congdon, Duluth; Mrs. James V. Claypool, Chisholm; Mrs. Douglas H. Lewis, Duluth; his son, Cavour, a brother Heber L. Other survivors are: A sister, Mrs. Lewis G. Rogers of Buffalo, N. Y.; and his brothers, Wilder W. Hartley, Mountain View, Cal.; B. F. and Roland H. of Everett, Wash. A son, Guilford, who is a student at Hill school, Pottstown, Pa., will arrive in Duluth tomorrow morning.

Connected With Major Industries

Mr. Hartley was concerned with practically every major industry of Duluth during his lifetime. He was general manager of the Duluth Street Railway company at the time the Duluth-Superior Interstate bridge was built, which consolidated the lines of Duluth and Superior. The incline also was built during his management of the street railway and the lines were electrified and extended practically to the present limits.

He was born at Shogomac, a settlement on the banks of the St. Johns river in New Brunswick, Canada, where he received a common school education. At the age of 18 he crossed to the states, coming to Brainerd where he began to work for various loggers. In a short time he began for himself, taking contracts for cutting and hauling logs to the rivers and lakes, from where they were shipped to the mills. The cattle, which were used as beasts of burden at that time in the industry, he employed during the summer months to break the prairie land in what was then Dakota territory, where he had begun farming. He there took out stone and timber claims. This was in the 70s. This nucleus he enlarged to the present well known Hartley Stock farms, of Page, N. D.

Member of Legislature

He took part in politics and was a state representative from his district in Crow Wing county during the 1883 session. He was delegate at large to the Republican National convention in Chicago in 1888. He there seconded the presentation of the name of Mr. Chanuney M. Depew of New York.

During his stay in Brainerd he branched out into many lines of business, including general contracting, hardware and merchandising.

He built the First National bank building when it was associated with his brother, F. B. Hartley. He also built the Hartley block on the site of the present Ransford hotel.

In 1885 he was appointed registrar of the Duluth land office. This brought him to Duluth, where he has lived since that time. Because of his activities in various business dealings he resigned this position in less than a year and became the general manager of the Duluth Street Railway company.

As previously, his interests developed along almost every commercial line. He became heavily interested in Duluth and Superior real estate. He conducted iron ore explorations throughout the northern Minnesota ranges. He purchased for the Rockefeller interests some of their best known properties.

Pioneer in Mine Development

He practically was a pioneer in the development of the western Mesaba. He was the first man in the district to successfully wash and concentrate low grade iron ores to give them a market value. In many of his mining operations he was associated with the late Chester A. Congdon. During the course of the mining and land operations with his associates, he platted the towns of Bovey, Cass Lake, Sparta, Grand Rapids and Nashauk. He also platted Page, N. D.

With his belief in the agricultural possibilities of this district he founded Island farm, 80 miles northwest of Duluth.

On this 750-acre farm, he placed 100 head of pure bred Guernsey cattle. These cattle in 1918 won the highest national honors. On the farm at Page, N. D., he had 165 head of Aberdeen-Angus fat cattle, which last November at the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago won premier honors. In addition, he also was a pioneer in the development of the head-lettuce growing industry in the vicinity of Duluth. He at one time had 80 acres of land growing head lettuce within the city limits.

Engaged in Newspaper Business

Early in his Duluth career he became connected with the newspaper business. With the late James J. Hill he owned the News Tribune, with Col. R. A. Wilkinson representing Mr. Hill. In course of time he purchased Mr. Hill's interest. Others were associated with him in the ownership of the paper until November, 1889, when he asked Mille Bunnell, the present owner and publisher to become his associate in the ownership of The News Tribune. From that time on until the autumn of 1921 they were equal partners in the property. Mr. Hartley and son, Cavour, then disposed of their interests in the paper to Mr. Bunnell.

Mr. Hartley has been connected with a number of Duluth institutions. He was on the building committees of the Kitchi Gammi club and St. Paul's Episcopal church. He also was president of the Northland Country club for several terms. He was one of the earliest members of the Minnesota club of St. Paul. His membership in organizations extends from coast to coast.

Good Roads Enthusiast

During his early days in the lumbering business he came to know the Indians at their best and was a close friend of the race all of his lifetime.

He was a good roads enthusiast and constructed many miles of roads at his own expense.

His marriage occurred March 7, 1883. Mrs. Hartley was Miss Caroline Woodward of Minneapolis. The son, Cavour who has been associated with him in business, was a second lieutenant with a field artillery unit of the Forty-second division which went overseas. The

NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

Several subjects of the greatest importance to the farming interests are to be considered at the National Agricultural Conference, which will be held in Washington, Jan. 23.

Insurance of crops as a method of stabilizing farm products is expected to be one of the many suggestions put forward for inclusion in a permanent national farm policy. The discussion in the Conference is expected to develop whether the proponents would recommend that the insurance be carried by the farmers cooperatively, by private companies, or through Government aid. For the first time, the question will be presented for an insurance against all crop risks.

Another important topic is the balancing of production with consumption. The relation of the supply of crops and foodstuffs has long been studied, and many important suggestions will undoubtedly be made. Other matters of particular interest to be taken up are: the importance of developing statistical information as to the crops; valorization, or price fixing; extension of the co-operative movement, and the labor question.

Agricultural Department officials point out that the purely agricultural nature of the Conference has been kept in mind, and the "dirt" farmer will be represented fully. Half of the delegates are farmers and farm leaders, and the other half representatives of industries that are dependent upon a prosperous agriculture.

The officials of the Agricultural Department promise that the findings of the Conference will be carefully considered in the light of their legal standing, and they will be promulgated finally with this aspect in mind.

REGULATE COMMUNITY DANCING

The school authorities of Duluth require strict adherence to the dancing regulations for community dances in the various schools in the city, which have recently been announced by the city recreational department, in line with the wide-spread movement to curb immodest dancing.

Large placards showing the different positions in which couples should stand while dancing will be placed on the walls of the schools, and those attending community dances there must adhere to those rules or be barred. The regulations are similar to those adopted recently by the Dancing Master's Association of America.

Vulgar and suggestive positions, steps and twists are taboo. "Dancers must dance with their feet, not with the upper part of their bodies," the regulations say. Holds, where the girl winds her arm around her partner's neck, will not be tolerated. Cheek to cheek dancing will not be allowed.

The dances are not going to be conducted along Puritanical lines, it is explained, nor are they to be lax. No doubt a large majority of those who attend the dances prefer a clean, wholesome evening of pleasure, and this should be provided them. No one can object to such reasonable restrictions upon public dances anywhere, as in most communities as a rule the young people do not lean to vulgar dancing. By thus safeguarding community dances, they will not be made so strict that no one will want to attend them. Those who stay away on this account however, can well be spared.

"LAW AND ORDER DAY"

Gov. Preus has issued a proclamation designating next Sunday, Jan. 22, as "Law and Order Day." While no mention is made of the Eighteenth Amendment, the proclamation calls attention to the vital necessity of observing the Constitution as it stands and the laws under it. "Efforts should be made," he says, "in churches and other public gatherings to impress upon our people not only the privileges they enjoy under our Constitution, but also the duties and obligations it imposes upon them. They should understand that the laws made under the Constitution are intended for the welfare of the whole public, and that it is for the mutual welfare of all that they be obeyed."

WORLD'S DAIRY SHOW

It is considered as highly probable that the World's Dairy Congress, planned to be the largest event in the history of agricultural expositions, may take place at the Minnesota State Fair grounds in 1923 as one effect of the decision of the directors of the National Dairy Show, announced last Saturday to stage the national show in the Twin Cities.

W. E. Skinner, manager of the show, in announcing the decision for 1922, strongly intimated that it only remains for the Northwest, by its interest and attendance next fall, to make the site permanent and draw the World's Dairy Congress.

The editors of ten Minnesota weekly newspapers have issued a statement asking for the support of Judge Oscar Hallam of St. Paul for United States Senator, before the coming Republican State Convention. A committee to take charge of the Hallam campaign is to be named soon, and headquarters will be opened in St. Paul in a few days.

Down in Fairmont Judge Dean advised the county commissioners not to place the women on the jury lists. His advice was heeded, and no woman's name is included in the list of 144 prepared by the commissioners.

The Columbia Record thinks that Mr. DeValera will never be in his real element until he gets into the United States Senate.

AMUSEMENTS

New Curwood Picture at Lyceum

"God's Country and the Law" which is showing at the Lyceum tonight and Thursday is a vigorous story of primitive men and stout hearted, beautiful women—of red blooded adventure, surprise and suspense, mystery and thrills staged in that great outdoor play ground of the gods—the North woods.

A SCENE FROM—
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD'S
"GOD'S COUNTRY AND THE LAW"

It is a gem of the genius of James Oliver Curwood. A born thriller, it travels breathlessly along. It is studied with smashing incident that keeps the suspense and anticipation on edge until the unexpected climax smites you. Made in the heart of the Maine woods, the greatest outdoor spot on the American continent, it has a background in deep rich colors and splendid hues that breathes the breath of life into it.

"The Great White Trail" at New Park

The snow was from two to eight feet deep. The hours were long, from the first strong glance of the sun until its dying ray. But none of it bothered Doris Kenyon, who is to appear at the New Park theatre today and tomorrow as the star of "The Great White Trail" the new super-feature by the Whartons, who produced "Patria," and other successes. And the reason for it all was that Miss Kenyon lives the life of the outdoors, the weather didn't worry her a bit.

Practically all the settings of "The Great White Trail" are in this sort of scenery, with everything from ice caves, containing stalagmites of ice from five to ten feet thick, to glaciers in predominance. The story is one of the gold rush days in the Klondike, and deals with a misunderstanding between husband and wife, which robs them of happiness until the tug of a pair of baby shoes once more brings them together. Miss Kenyon is supported by a large cast of prominence. The picture was produced by The Whartons. It is in seven reels.

One-Eighth of an Inch Blocked Student's Way To Athletic Fame

That one-eighth of an inch should block a sensational lad's dash to success is almost ridiculous. But that is exactly what happened to Paul Courtois, the all around athlete of New York University. When a freshman Courtois created a sensation by winning the broad jump at the Penn relay carnival with a leap of 23 feet 8 inches. He improved on this last year by jumping 23 feet 10 inches, but Courtois carried off the honors by a jump which measured just one-eighth of an inch more.

PILLAGGER

Mrs. Dave Sarff and two children of Staples are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Duffney.

The Methodist church observed Family Day on Sunday, January 15.

Odd Fellows held their installation at Strawbridge hall Friday evening.

Cass Lake is considering buying fire hose.

Seven hundred Chippewas received pay checks of $100 each.

Legion dances at Cass Lake have not been very successful. At the last one, says the Times, but seven male dancers appeared.

Even the dance of the firemen was not successful. They lost about $35 on their New Year's ball.

Sheriff Mack Kennedy was in town on official business.

Frank McGinnis is gaining fame as a star center in basketball. He guided Hamline to a series of victories.

PEQUOT

Pequot basketball team won from Pine River 32 to 13.

Old Legend Concerning Fox.

The fox won his reputation for cunning owing to the legend that "when a fox is hungry, it lies down in a furrow of the field and covers itself partly with earth as though it had been long dead. Then the ravens and other rapacious birds come to devour it, at which it suddenly leaps up and tears them to pieces."

Art.

Art, like the universe, exists for its own sake, and as the universe remains eternally the same, though our conceptions of the universe are subject to incessant change, so must art remain independent of the ephemeral conceptions of art.—Heine.

ANSEL SANDBERG FUNERAL

Tribute Paid Ex-Serviceman Who Lost His Life in Accident at Railway Crossing

An audience which filled the Swedish Baptist church to its capacity assembled at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to honor the memory of Ansel Sandberg, a worthy and beloved young man and friend. Rev. A. Paulson, pastor of the church, spoke from the text, "What I Do, Thou Knowest Not Now, but Hereafter Thou shalt Understand".

Rev. A. C. Smith of the First Baptist church, made some appropriate remarks and sang a solo. The quartet of the church sang two selections. The floral offering were very beautiful and profuse. The World War veterans served as pallbearers.

Mr. Sandberg was born September 24, 1895 in Aurdal, Ottertail county, Minnesota, and was 26 years old when he passed away January 13. In 1901 the family removed to Brainerd and he and the family have had their home in Brainerd and vicinity ever since.

He was like other young men called to service of his country in the World War and served 17 months, nine of which were at the front in France as truck driver in the transportation service.

Mr. Sandberg was received into membership of the Swedish Baptist church on confession of faith and baptism in 1915 and has been a faithful member ever since, said the pastor. He is mourned by his father Charles Sandberg, his brother Oscar and sister Ruth now Mrs. Alfred Satter all of this city and a brother Harry of Washington, a stepmother and other relatives; by the Swedish Baptist church and Sunday school, by comrades in the army service and in his calling and a large circle of friends.

The profuse floral offerings bore testimony to the esteem in which he was held.

USING FARM PRODUCTS FOR LEADERS

(Contributed)

A request is being made to the merchants in the county to stop using farm produce as a leader, and in that manner bring down the price of that commodity. Eggs, butter, potatoes, onions are from time to time used as leaders. A merchant through some source receives a supply of a farm commodity at a very low figure. He immediately places it as a leader in his window or sales counter in the store at a cost price or very low selling price. Other merchants must then immediately to protect their trade cut this commodity to a like price, and as a consequence the whole farming class must bear the brunt of this selling service.

Merchants should realize that on the prosperity of the farming people rests the prosperity of the merchant and every inducement should be made to give the farmer a fair price for that which he has to sell. Making leaders of farm products has the opposite tendency. This is an appeal to the merchants better sense asking him to stop this practice. Give the farmer every opportunity to lift himself out of the present depression by allowing a fair price for his product. The farmers are asking the merchants in a friendly spirit to stop using farm products as "leaders".

LAND CLEARING AN IMPORTANT ADJUNCT

Fostered by the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau as Reported by County Agent E. G. Roth

PERMANENT RESULTS GAINED

University of Minnesota Report on What Was Accomplished in Beltrami County

Of interest to Crow Wing county farmers, business men and others is the program of land clearing fostered by the County Farm Bureau. According to the annual report of County Agricultural Agent E. G. Roth, sixteen land clearing clubs were organized in the spring of 1921, having three, four or six men to a team. The results obtained from these is typical of the Twin Lake club heretofore described. A six man team and two stump pullers spending two days on each man's farm, the owner of the farm being captain of the crew for these two days and arranging work accordingly. Under this system 32 acres were cleared in the first round. The sixteen clubs cleared approximately 320 acres, besides stimulating land clearing interest in each neighborhood.

An attempt was made in the spring of 1921 to start a land clearing association in the county, but it could not be put across at this time as not sufficient funds could be raised for this purpose at this time.

Bessette Land Clearing Law

The Bessette Land Clearing law was taken up in two communities. The Pelican club appointed a committee to investigate the law and reported as follows: that it would cost approximately 20 per cent on the money received, due to overhead and carrying charges to put this law in force. The Timothy-Allen club made arrangements to put it in practice with fourteen members signing up for a total of 400 acres secured by the necessary bond and petitioned the board of county commissioners which is the present status.

Dynamite and Picric Acid

One-half carload of dynamite with the necessary caps and fuses was secured in the spring of 1921 and distributed at cost among different farmers of the county. In October one carload of picric acid was secured and distributed among the farmers at cost. From time to time during the year local shipments of dynamite were secured for farmers in different parts of the county. A total saving in all resulted (on prices based upon what farmers were charged before this was secured) to $8000. Besides getting this cheaper dynamite an interest was stimulated in land clearing and resulted in more acres cleared than would have been otherwise.

Beltrami County Report

The Dispatch is indebted to M. J. Thompson and A. J. Schwantes of the Land Clearing Section, Division of Agricultural Engineering, University of Minnesota, for the report of what has been accomplished by the united efforts of not only the farmers, but also bankers and business men of Beltrami county.

According to the 1920 census report, the amount of clearing done in Beltrami county during the five year period 1915-1919 inclusive, was 17,243 acres. This makes an average of 3,448 acres cleared in one year. Since there are 3,065 farms in the county, an average of 1.1 acres was cleared per farm per year. As a direct result of the activities of the land clearing association the rate of land clearing has been increased about 500 per cent during 1921.

The report follows and was made to the University by A. W. Stone, manager of the Beltrami Land Clearing Association and is summary of reports of the first 200 farms reporting:

Brushed, 1400 acres, average per farm, 7 acres; seeded to clover, 635 acres, average 3.17 acres; stumps removed from 1104 acres, average 5.52 acres; total acreage cleared, 1739 acres, average 8.69 acres; explosives used, 32,300 lbs., average 160 lbs.; explosives still on hand, 12,500 lbs.; average, 62 lbs.; estimate of explosives needed (1922), 21,700 lbs.; average 108 lbs. explosives used per acre stumped 29 pounds.

Details of explosive materials used in the county: dynamite furnished by association, 128,400 lbs., furnished by dealers, 100,000 lbs.; picric acid furnished by association 74,800 lbs.; total 203,200 lbs.; caps furnished by association 206,000, by dealers 140,000; fuse furnished by association 271,000 feet, by dealers 194,000 feet; total fuse, 465,000 feet or 88 miles.

Conclusions From Report

1. There seems to be still on hand in the county about one quarter of the explosives shipped in, or approximately 75,000 lbs. This suggests that there was on hand (in stock and on hand on the farms) considerable quantities of dynamite in the spring of 1921, possibly 20,000 pounds. A large percentage could not be used this fall because it arrived too late.

2. It took an average of about 30 pounds of dynamite to stump each acre.

3. If 250,000 lbs. of explosives were used during 1921 at the rate of 30 lbs. per acre, that would mean about 8,350 acres stumped.

4. If you figure 1000 acres to 20,000 lbs. as some do, that would mean 12,000 acres stumped.

5. If 200 farmers stumped 1104 acres, then 3000 farmers should have stumped at least 15,000 acres.

6. In addition to the sixty lbs. of explosives now on hand on each farm, each farmer wants to get an average of 108 lbs. more next spring, which will be 10 lbs. more than was used on each of the 200 farms in 1921.

7. About 50 per cent of the farmers expect to get dynamite through the Land Clearing Association in 1922. The demand for explosives is largely for April delivery.

8. About 60 per cent of the stumped land was plowed and put into crop this year. Distribution of crop on new breakings: Potatoes 87, fodder corn 32, oats 35, root crops 9, barley 8. Miscellaneous crops planted were millet, speltz, squash and beans.

9. Vote for continuing the land clearing association: Yes 167, no 1, not voting 32.

10. Of the brushed acreage over 50 per cent is in addition to the acres stumped, or over 9,000 acres, will be ready for stumping in 1922.
